WHAT ARE SCHOLARSHIPS?

mefa®

Scholarships

- Funds to help students pay for college that do not have to be repaid
- Often given in recognition of certain attributes of the student, such as good grades, community service, leadership, or athletics
- Provided by community organizations, foundations, non-profits, and corporations
- Can make a significant impact in helping cover college costs

Key Facts

- The typical high school senior will match with 50 to 100 scholarships in a search engine
- Over half of athletic scholarships are designated to one of four sports: football, basketball, soccer, and track & field
  - Watch our Athletics in College Admissions webinar
- Each year there is around $100 million in unclaimed scholarships in the U.S., often because there aren't enough qualified applicants*

Academic Degree Level	Number of Scholarships	Total Amount of Scholarships	Average Scholarship
Certificate	54,300	$157,531,788	$2,901
Associate's Degree	352,300	$992,896,990	$2,818
Bachelor's Degree	1,154,300	$4,850,366,291	$4,202

How to Get Started

Here are some questions to get started to help shape the scholarship search:

- What areas of study after high school interest you?
- Where have you volunteered?
- What are the various cultural backgrounds in your family heritage?
- What are your special talents?
- Do you or anyone in your family live with a disability or health challenge?
- Have any of your parents or grandparents served in the military?
- Where do your parents work?

WHERE TO LOOK FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

mefa®

- School counselors often keep an updated list of local scholarships
- Local scholarships only attract a small pool of applicants, those eligible students within the region, and are therefore generally easier to win
- Many guidance offices post scholarships on the school's online college planning portal, such as MEFA Pathway or Naviance

At Work

- Check with your parents' place of work for private scholarships dedicated to children of employees
- If you have a summer or part-time job, see if they offer scholarships for staff members headed to college

Professional Associations

- Research professional associations related to your aspirational career. Some groups offer scholarships to high school students interested in that particular career field
- Many local organizations have their own websites where you can find information on the scholarships they offer. Start by checking the websites of your local Elks, Rotary Club, and PTA organizations

Online Search Engines

- There are several reputable websites that provide scholarship search tools
- You can filter by specific criteria
- To get the most out of scholarship databases, create an account. Although it might be more work up front, it will be easier in the long run since you will not have to re-enter information for every application

TIPS TO FIND SCHOLARSHIPS

mefa®

A young man with short, wavy brown hair and a bright smile is the central focus. He is wearing a white t-shirt with maroon sleeves and has a grey backpack strap over his shoulder. He is standing in a brightly lit school hallway with other students blurred in the background. The overall atmosphere is positive and energetic.

Start Searching Early

- There are private scholarships open to children as young as 5 years old, so don't wait until senior year of high school to start looking.

Stay Organized

- As you find private scholarships to apply for, keep a running list of deadlines, scholarship amounts, and requirements.
- Create a spreadsheet that you can easily reference and update, including columns for the scholarship website URL, the deadline, the prize awarded, and what is required to apply.

A man with grey hair, wearing a light blue button-down shirt, is sitting at a desk and looking at a laptop screen. He has his hand on his chin, appearing thoughtful. The background is a blurred indoor setting with a wooden table and a framed picture on the wall.

Set a Weekly Goal

- You're more likely to earn a scholarship if you submit an application for several, so set a goal to apply to a certain number of scholarships every week.

Try for Scholarships that Require an Essay

- Most students avoid scholarships that require an essay, opting instead for easier and shorter applications.
- As a result, essay scholarships, in general, have a smaller pool of applicants, increasing the chances of winning.

Look for Scholarships
Related to Favorite Activities

- Scholarships are often catered to students with specific interests or talents. Make a list of your extracurricular activities—sports, music, art, clubs, etc.—and search for scholarships that award students with those interests.

Clean Up Your Online Profile

- Agencies awarding scholarships may do a quick search to seek out any public information about you online. Make sure your internet presence is professional and mature, and remove any material from your public social media pages that doesn't represent your best self.

Never Pay

- Don't pay a fee for a scholarship search tool. Plenty of free online search tools exist, and they include the exact same scholarships as those that require payment.

FINANCIAL AID

mefa®

The Importance of Financial Aid

- Most students receive the bulk of their college cost help from financial aid
- Submit the FAFSA and any other required financial aid applications on time!
- Applying for financial aid will open your eligibility to federal, state, and college money

The Financial Aid Effect

- Once you receive a private scholarship, alert the financial aid office at each college where you've applied
- If you're receiving need-based financial aid, your private scholarships will need to fit within the total amount of your financial aid eligibility, which is determined by the college cost and your family's Expected Family Contribution (EFC)
- The financial aid staff will work with you to maximize the amount that you can receive in private scholarships without affecting your financial aid
- For specific questions, contact each college's financial aid office
