Important Kitchen Table Conversations

- What is each school's net price?
- What is the right step for the student? There are MANY options
- Curating a balanced college list will provide the most options and choices
- Consider that starting at community college (free tuition and fees in MA) could save significantly on college costs
- Consider the number of children in the family going to college
- Think in terms of the student's total debt (4+ years of school), potential starting salary, and future career plans
- Does the college have services the student needs (learning styles, transition from high school IEP, etc.)
- Would taking a gap year benefit the student?
